I just received a rather remarkable phone call from Bob Oechsler, MUFON investigator from Annapolis, MD, who also has his own nationally broadcast UFO radio talk show. Bob asked me to upload the following information.

On Tuesday March 14, 1989 at 6:42 am the following message was received by a UFO investigator in Baltimore through WA3NAN (Goddard) amateur radio transission from the orbiter Discovery. "Houston, this is Discovery. We still have the alien space craft, uhh, under observance." The transmission was picked up on a Radio Shack scanner tuned to 147.45 mhz.

According to Bob, he and his colleagues have found that the transmission matches up with NASA tapes except that there is a "blank space" in the tape where the above transmission occurred. (Possibly bleached out?) They are currently doing voice print analyis in an effort to match the specific voice with one of the astronauts. They will compare to voices of all of the astronauts recorded during the Today Show interview. They should know "for sure" in about a week.

Bob would very much appreciate it if anyone who may be able to corroborate this transmission would call him at 301-798-1503. About 15 minutes prior to the transmission there was a broadcast about "a fire on board". There is speculation that this may have been a code to switch frequencies or to stop feed to the public domain. He would this also like to hear if anyone can corroborate anything about a "fire."
